

Write all about it Keep a diary for a week and write about the things you done and how you are feeling. You might want to add illustrations.	Review it Read your reading book or any other book you have at home. After reading, write a review of your book. Include a brief summary, your favourite part and whether you recommend the book.	Read Read daily for at least 10-15 minutes Keep a record of your reading in your reading record	Fantasy furnishing -Draw a quick sketch of what your bedroom looks like now. -What would you love to do to change your room? Imagine you could do anything! What gadgets or animals or toys would you have int it? Where would you sleep? You can invent whatever you like - be as imaginative as you can. -Draw and label your Fantasy Bedroom
Longer sentences Choose one of these sentence starters. - The alien ran away. - Mummy was tired. - The dog ate the football. make it longer by adding one word. Keep adding to it until you have made it twice as long! The alien ran away. The frightened alien ran away. The frightened alien ran away quickly.	That's not fair! Everyone has to live by rules, even adults. What rules are there in your house that you think are fair? Write down three fair rules. Write them like instructions, using bossy language. Write down three rules that you think are not fair, again write them like instructions (e.g. Finish your dinner before you get any pudding.) Which rule would you most like to change? Why?	Please Miss! Imagine you forgot to bring your homework back to school. Make up a really imaginative excuse about what happened to your homework - it can be as unbelievable and incredible as you like! Can you think of an excuse your teacher has never heard before? Imagine the conversation with your teacher and write it down like a play script.	Newspaper article Look at a newspaper or magazine. Choose an article that you like from it. It can be about anything: a sports event, something that happened near you, or something you're interested in. It's up to you! Write several reasons why you chose this article